

Friends

All my life I had many friends
Some have been like brothers
Who went with me through thick and thin
But more than even friendship
Can give a sweet mama when you're just a little child
When you are crying in your loneliness
'Cause she's not there just for a while

Oh I felt so peaceful
When she was standing in the door
Well, she's been my baby
I was waiting for

Over night it happens deep inside you
And you're missing someone that you never missed before
Grown-up to a pretty woman
You won't play with toys anymore

You see the world through coloured glasses
And love is burning in your eyes
And every time your sweetheart leaves you
You feel so bad that you just wanna die

Oh I felt so peaceful
When he was standing in the door
Well, he's been my baby
I was waiting for

All my life I had many friends
Some have been like brothers
Who went with me through thick and thin
But more than even friendship
Can only give the last friend when he's knocking at the door
Whatever life has given you
Maybe he even gives you more

Will I feel so peaceful
When he's standing in the door
He's the one
I will not wait for

It's all right, yeah!
