

R.A.P. (Never Be Another You)

Words & Music: Ron Randolph/Alex Conti

Publisher: CPM

Give me a straight groove and a bass guitar
Put some heavy metal on
You can bowl them down after you set them up
All inhibitions gone

Back up, now, don't say
That love might find a way
I'll show you fires that late at night
Drive bishops off the stage

Hey, boy, rock 'n' roll
Is still alive today
A caution man with a ram-a-lam tag
Already on the way

You're insane, I'm outrageous
Think that we could find satisfaction
Oh, yeah, here comes
Something we can't stop

Oh, you got me on my knees, baby
Oh, you give my heart a squeeze, yeah

I don't want a lover
Who'll be just another substitute
Why wait for another
There will be another you

Once I said
I got no time for love
I take what I need, then I turn it off
When I get enough

Goodbye blue sky
I guess you heard the news
My soul was saved by the sound you made
When I looked at you

Roll on, I say
Wait a minute, boys, I'm gone
Spent your time, trying to be mine
But now you got it made

Oh, oh, gotta rock
My man on the floor
We play that game till we're goin' insane
I want it more and more
